Cemo

Is a Kurdish refugee who fled his country because of his political beliefs, he continued painting despite hardships and prosecutions

'painting was the only refuge for my imagination during 10 years brutal life in the prison cells of Turkey'

Kameel Ahmady

Came to the UK as a refugee. He now works as visual ethnographer/anthropologist.

Through photographs and ethnographic images he tries to grasp viewer's attention into different reality, but also to the surreal of the everyday that often overlooked as a part of our world.
